

PROBLEM STATEMENT:

Manual water testing in rural areas is infrequent, expensive, and time-consuming, resulting in delayed responses to contamination. Communities often become aware of unsafe water only after diseases have spread. Therefore, there is a need for a low-cost, automatic, and continuous water monitoring system that can help identify unsafe water conditions early.